The screenshot displays the EMBASE.com search interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the EMBASE.com logo, a search bar, and buttons for 'Home', 'Search', 'ENTREE Keywords', 'Journals', and 'Authors'. A registration/login section is also present with fields for 'Register or Login' and 'Password', along with 'Go', 'Athens Login', and 'New Key' buttons. A 'Help' and 'Profile' link is visible on the right.

The main content area is divided into several sections:

- Search Forms: A list of search options including Quick Search, Advanced Search, Field Search, Drug Search, Disease Search, and Article Search.
- Search Results: A sidebar menu with options like Session Results (highlighted), Clipboard, Saved Clipboards, E-mail Alerts, and Saved Searches.
- Search Tips: A section providing advice on accessing full-text links and repeating searches.
- Session Results: A table showing the current search session. The first row is highlighted in yellow and contains the search query: "#5 efficacy OR effectiveness AND occupational AND injuries AND [2000-2007]/py". The number of results, "199", is circled in red. To the right of the query are links for "View" and "Edit".
- 199 Search Results: A section displaying the first two results. The first result is titled "Sesame oil attenuates cisplatin-induced hepatic and renal injuries by inhibiting nitric oxide-associated lipid peroxidation in mice" by Hsu D.-Z., Chen K.-T., Lin T.-H., Li Y.-H., and Liu M.-Y. It is from Shock 2007 27:2 (199-204) EMBASE and includes a "trova" button and a link to "Full Text from CrossRef". The second result is titled "Fentanyl HCl iontophoretic transdermal system (ITS): Clinical application of iontophoretic technology in the management of acute postoperative pain".

At the bottom of the search results section, there are options to sort by Relevance or Publication Year, and a selection of 0 (clear), 100, 199, or 5000 results. A "next" button is also present.

Welcome to SafetyLit, the online source for recent research about injury prevention.

Information about the occurrence and prevention of injuries is available from many sources and professional disciplines. SafetyLit staff and volunteers regularly examine 2600 scholarly journals from 35 professional disciplines and scores of reports from government agencies and organizations. The weekly update is posted before 0600 h GMT every Monday morning. Each week SafetyLit online abstracts are read by more than 49,000 people from 186 nations.

In addition to this Web-based SafetyLit update, we also provide a free email announcement of the titles, authors, and publishers of the abstracts included in each weekly update. An online form is available for those who would like to subscribe to this service.

The National Occupational Research Agenda (NORA)

The National Occupational Research Agenda (NORA) is a collaborative program to stimulate innovative research in workplace safety and health. Unveiled in 1996, over 500 diverse individuals and organizations contributed to the first agenda.

NIOSH and its partners recently recognized 10 years of past achievements at the NORA Symposium 2006. Past research conducted under NORA is also reflected in the Compendium of NORA Research Projects. Other key activities are described in The Team Document (PDF).

In preparation for the second decade of NORA, people from across the country have attended town hall meetings and used our online feedback form to tell us what they think are the top issues in workplace safety and health.
